Heart attack	Heart attack is defined as the death of a portion of the heart muscle due to insufficient blood supply to the heart. In the case of severity levels 25% and 50% the patient recovers fully and the heart function returns to normal. In the case of severity levels 75% and 100% more permanent damage has resulted, which means the heart function is less than 100% after recovery. The effect of the heart attack on heart function should be measured 6 weeks after the heart attack.

25%	This is defined as the death of heart muscle, due to inadequate blood supply, as evidenced by all three of the following criteria: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Compatible clinical symptoms and 2. Characteristic ECG changes, e.g. ST-segment and T-wave changes indicative of myocardial ischaemia or myocardial infarction, and 3. Raised cardiac markers: Trop T > 0,5 ng/ml or Trop I > 0,25 ng/ml, or Raised CK-MB mass Up to 2 times normal values in acute presentation phase, or Up to 4 times normal values post-intervention Total CPK elevation of up to 2x normal values, with at least 6% being CK-MB The evidence must show a definite acute myocardial infarction. Other acute coronary syndromes, including but not limited to angina, are not covered by this definition.

50%	This is defined as the death of heart muscle, due to inadequate blood supply, as evidenced by two of the following three criteria: <ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Compatible clinical symptoms 2. Characteristic ECG changes, which can be either of the following: New pathological Q-waves (see definitions of ECG changes below), or ST-segment and T-wave changes indicative of myocardial injury, (see definitions of ECG changes below) but only when accompanied by raised cardiac markers as described hereafter 3. Raised cardiac markers: Trop T > 1,0 ng/ml or Trop I > 0,5 ng/ml, or Raised CK-MB mass More than 2 times normal values in acute presentation phase, or More than 4 times normal values post-intervention Total CPK elevation of more than 2x normal values, with at least 6% being CK-MB

75% A heart attack that meets the criteria as defined under the 50% severity level definition, with permanent impairment in one or more of the following functional criteria, as measured 6 weeks post-infarction:

Criterion	Value
NYHA classification	Class 2 or 3
METS	2-7
LVEF	30%-50%
LVEDD	59-72
Ultrasound FS in %	16%-25%

100% A Heart attack that meets the criteria as defined under the 50% severity level definition, with permanent impairment in one or more of the following functional criteria, as measured 6 weeks post-infarction:

Criterion	Value
NYHA classification	Class 4
METS	1 or less
LVEF	< 30%
LVEDD	> 72
Ultrasound FS in %	< 16%

If more than one functional criterion is impaired, but their values do not conform to one severity level (for example one impaired value is that of the 100% severity level and another of 75%), the final severity level should be determined by giving preference to the more objective criteria, that is in the following order:

4. LVEF
5. LVEDD
6. Ultrasound FS
7. METS
8. NYHA

Definitions of ECG changes	a) ECG changes indicative of Myocardial Ischaemia that may progress to Myocardial Infarction: Patients with ST-segment elevation: New or presumed new ST segment elevation at the J point in two or more contiguous leads with the cut-off points greater than or equal to 0.2mV in leads V1, V2, or V3, and greater than or equal to 0.1mV in other leads. Contiguity in the frontal plane is defined by the lead sequence AVL, I and II, AVF, III. (Ref. 1) Patients without ST-segment elevation: ST-segment depression of at least 0.1 mV; T-wave abnormalities only (Ref. 1). b) Definition of new pathological Q-waves: Any new Q-wave in leads V1 through V3; A Q-wave greater than or equal to 40 ms (0.04s) in leads I, II, AVL, AVF, V4, V5 or V6; The Q-wave changes must be present in any two contiguous leads, and be greater than or equal to 1mm in depth (Ref. 1). Appearance of new complete bundle branch block.
Open heart bypass surgery	Coronary artery bypass graft surgery, also called heart bypass or bypass surgery, is a surgical procedure performed to relieve chest pain and reduce the risk of death from heart disease. Arteries or veins from elsewhere in the patient's body (most commonly the leg) are joined to the coronary arteries of the heart to bypass the narrowings of the affected or diseased arteries. This requires open thoracotomy i.e. the surgical opening of the chest cavity. This improves the blood supply and circulation to the heart muscle. The terms "single bypass", "double bypass", "triple bypass", "quadruple bypass" and "quintuple bypass" refer to the number of coronary arteries bypassed in the procedure This surgery is performed with the heart stopped necessitating the usage of highly specialised theatre equipment to keep the heart and the lungs working during the course of the operation.
25%	Single (1 vessel) bypass
50%	Double (2 vessel) bypass
75%	Triple (3 vessel) bypass
100%	Quadruple / Quintuple (4 or 5 vessel) bypass
Specific exclusions	Keyhole Cardiac Surgery is specifically excluded

Stroke	A stroke occurs when the blood supply to a portion of the brain is obstructed and this part of the brain tissue dies. It can also happen when there is bleeding into the brain tissue due to a weakening or abnormality of the blood vessel wall. A common cause of the rupture of a brain blood vessel is longstanding uncontrolled high blood pressure. The result of a stroke is usually paralysis of an arm and leg, sometimes with one half of the face affected as well. In some cases people also lose their ability to speak. The paralysis can recover to varying degrees. Some recover fully, whereas others may retain permanent weakness of a limb(s). The severity of the stroke is measured by one's ability / inability to perform basic and advanced activities of daily living as set out in the activities of daily living table at the end of the Schedule of What You're Covered For. Severity levels will be assessed by a full neurological examination by a specialist neurologist any time after three months of the event.
25%	Almost full recovery, with little residual symptoms or signs, as measured by the ability to do all basic and advanced activities of daily living as a direct result of the stroke
50%	Can function independently, but has impairment as measured by the inability to do 3 or more advanced activities of daily living as a direct result of the stroke
75%	Cannot function independently, as measured by the inability to do 6 or more advanced activities of daily living as a direct result of the stroke

Specific exclusions	Transient Ischaemic Attacks (TIA's) A Transient Ischaemic Attack occurs when the blood supply is momentarily interrupted, but restored before any permanent damage can occur. It usually results in one of more of the following symptoms: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • a loss of sensation • dizziness • lameness of a limb • loss of speech which only occur for a few minutes to hours and recovery is quick and spontaneous

Alzheimer's disease	Alzheimer's disease is a degenerative brain syndrome characterized by a progressive decline in memory, thinking, comprehension, calculation, language, learning capacity and judgment sufficient to impair personal activities of daily living. The unequivocal diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease must be confirmed by a neurologist.
25%	The unequivocal diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease
100%	The unequivocal diagnosis of Alzheimer's disease where dementia due to failure of brain function has occurred with significant memory and cognitive impairment for which no other recognisable cause has been identified. Memory and cognitive impairment must be to such a degree that the life insured requires continual supervision.
Kidney failure	Kidney failure is a situation in which the kidneys fail to function adequately
10%	Disease or disorder requiring a total or partial nephrectomy
100%	Chronic, irreversible and total failure of both kidneys requiring regular dialysis treatment or renal transplantation. Diagnosis to be confirmed by a nephrologist
Paralysis	The complete and irreversible loss of strength in an affected limb or muscle group caused by nerve damage in the brain or spinal cord. Diagnosis is to be confirmed by a neurologist.
50%	Hemiplegia
75%	Paraplegia
100%	Quadriplegia
